Proceedings of the House and Senate.

AN ANTI-SILVER SPEECH.

Scott, of Philadelphia, Defends the Financial Policy of the Administration.

Special to the Herald by the Associated Press.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, February 19.—Manderson offered a resolution directing the Secretary of State and Secretary of War to inquire and report to the Senate the facts surrounding the killing of Captain Emmet Crawford, said to have been slain on or about January 10th, 1886, by Mexican troops, and to report what steps were being taken for the punishment by the Mexican government of those guilty of the alleged outrage; also whether reparation and indemnity should not be made to those who suffered, and an ample explanation and apology be given to the United States for the apparently gross insult. In offering the resolution Manderson said it was due to the United States, not less than to the relations of the deceased, that inquiry should be made as to the killing of Captain Crawford. Manderson read the official report of Lieutenant Maus on the subject, and maintained that if the facts were there correctly set forth, they constituted a very severe reflection on the Mexican troops. Manderson paid high tribute to the courage and soldiery devotion of Captain Crawford and animadverted with severity on the course pursued by the Mexicans. He expressed the hope that the United States would compel reparation if necessary by force, from the Mexican government, in case that government should prove to be in any way responsible for the conduct of its troops in this instance.

Butler objected to the present consideration of the resolution.

Edmunds said the custom of the Senate was to refer to the Committee on Foreign Relations all resolutions affecting our relations with foreign governments. The subject matter of the resolution should certainly be carefully inquired into, but at this present moment, Edmunds continued, we were bound to assume that the President and Secretary of State were not slumbering on the subject, but were making a careful investigation and efforts to bring the Mexican government to punish whatever was wrong. Edmunds certainly hoped so and could not doubt that that was the case. The resolution, with Manderson's assent, was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

The Education bill was placed before the Senate and Mr. Evarts took the floor in its advocacy. After the debate on the Educational bill was closed, Edmunds, from the Committee on Judiciary, reported favorably bills to remove the political disabilities of Alexander P. Stewart, of Mississippi; Thos. L. Rosser, of Virginia, and Edward G. W. Butler, of Missouri. The bills were at once passed, Mr. Edmunds remarking that one of the parties was an aged gentleman and desired before leaving this world to be at peace with the United States.

Among the bills introduced and appropriately referred was one by Edmunds relative to the eight hour law. He said the bill related to letter carriers' hours of labor. These hours seemed to be really all nature could endure.

After an exective session the Senate adjourned until Tuesday next.

HOUSE.

Mr. Hewitt called up the joint resolution tendering the thanks of Congress to Joseph Francis for his life-long services to humanity and his country in the construction and perfection of life saving appliances, and authorizing the President to have prepared a gold medal to be presented to Mrs. Francis. Passed.

The House went into committee of the whole on the private calendar. On the first bill on the calendar Scott, of Pennsylvania, offered a verbal amendment and proceeded to deliver a speech on the silver question. He prefaced his speech by expressing regret that gentlemen representing his own political faith had seen proper to anticipate their party opponents on their criticisms on the first Democratic President and Secretary of the Treasury who had occupied these positions in the past twenty-five years. He desired further to say, in justice to the large majority of gentlemen who differ with him politically and who represent their party in both Houses of Congress, that he did not believe they would so far ignore facts as to intimate that the organizations of wealth have succeeded in alarming the President and Secretary of the Treasury, as they have done in several previous administrations, in the language employed in this connection means anything at all it must be construed to mean that the President and Secretary of the Treasury were under the influence of capitalists whose interests were supposed to be antagonistic to those of the productive classes and wage workers. What facts susceptible of such a construction had been submitted in proof of the charges or insinuations uttered? They seemed to him to rest only upon the bare unsupported statement of these who promulgated them. Had the Presidents and Secretary of the Treasury in any respect violated the law as it exists today? Had they not conformed to its every letter? Could not Congress concede to them as much honesty and integrity in the views they entertained upon this subject as it claimed for itself? Could it not presume them to be as desirous as itself of doing what was for the best interests of the people? It was true that they have recommended the suspension of the coinage of the silver dollar under the provisions of the act of 1878, but could any one say that such recommendations might not ultimately prove to be as wise, and as well calculated to promote the public good as its continued coinage? had been shown by practical experience to have been of doubtful advantage? The charge had been made that the Secretary of the Treasure was inimical to silver for the reason, it was alleged, that he had not paid out the silver in the Treasury for the retirement of government bonds. The government provided three grades of money, all of equal purchasing power in the market, and to maintain this equality was one of the duties of the Secretary of the Treasury. Suppose he had $10,000 in government bonds. He was required when they were called to present them for redemption at the Treasury of the United States in Washington. He was not paid for them in money but he received a check. This check did not describe the kind of money he should receive; it simply called for ten thousand dollars. It was optional with him to demand either gold, silver or paper, but if under the instructions of the Secretary of the Treasury the disbursing officers were commanded upon the face of the check to pay him in silver, would he not have the right to infer that the government was endeavoring to force upon him coin which intrinsically did not represent ten thousand dollars in true money, but arbitrarily compelling him to take silver when under the existing laws gold, silver and United States notes were understood and declared to be of equal value and so treated in payments by the Treasury? Would not such action on the part of the Secretary of the Treasury tend to discredit silver, and would he not be derelict in his duty, which required him to do all that was in his power to do to maintain three kinds of money on a parity in the Treasury. The Department had not discriminated against silver as it would have done had such a policy been pursued, but on the contrary the Secretary had endeavored to uphold it by refusing to arbitrarily compel those who did not want it to take it, and for which there was no law. In 1878 Congress had passed a law which practical experience had twice demonstrated to be in violation of economic principles, and because these gentlemen charged under the laws with the duty of carrying out this Utopian financial idea, realized that it was impossible for them to accomplish all that was intended although having faithfully executed the provisions of the law, they were held responsible by the authors of the act of 1878 for the want of confidence on the part of the people and the non-circulation of this coin. He declared that if there be in circulation a good dollar and a poor dollar the rich man will always get the good dollar and the poor man the poor dollar. If a public policy required that all dollars should be poor in order to rob the creditor class of our people in favor of the debtor, it is appealed to this House to in some way protect the man who earned his bread and supported his family by his daily labor, and when he asked for bread not to give him a stone. How this could be done in any better way than by giving the rich and poor alike a good dollar he did not know, but protested in God's name for the poor man. The rich man could take care of himself; he needed no sympathy, nor was he entitled to any. Mr. Scott said that he was in favor of bi-metallism at the present time, although he believed in the superiority of gold as the standard of value. Mr. Scott spoke at great length, and finally Mr. Geddes, of Ohio, protested against the private bill day being consumed in the discussion of the silver question. He was then proceeding to make a speech in favor of silver coinage, when he was interrupted by Mr. Reed of Maine, who suggested that Mr. Geddes was guilty of the same inconsistency with which he charged the gentleman from Pennsylvania. Why take up any more time with financial speeches? The majority of the house was entirely dissatisfied with the time taken up already.

Mr. Geddes—"I suppose you are, because you have heard only the gold side."

Mr. Reed—"I am as dissatisfied with the time being taken up on that side as on the other."

Mr. Geddes then started once more upon his speech, when he was interrupted by Mr. Reed with the point of order that he was not speaking to the amendment. Mr. Geddes inquired why Mr. Reed had not made that point against the gentleman from Pennsylvania. Mr. Reed replied that he had not done that gentleman the honor of listening to his speech, and therefore could not tell whether he had spoken to the amendment or not. He raised the point of order, not in any invidiousness to the gentleman from Ohio or the proposition he advanced, but he wished an adjudication of the question.

The Chair stated that he did not think that the gentleman was addressing himself to the amendment and hoped he would proceed to do so.

Geddes carried his point and resumed his speech. He said that gold, instead of leaving the country, was abundant in the land. The report of the Comptroller of the Currency for 1881 showed that from the restoration of silver to its proper place in 1878 to November 1st, 1881, the imports of gold had exceeded the exports by $197,000,000.

Shortly after the conclusion of Mr. Geddes' speech the committee rose and the House passed a dozen private bills.

Bland of Missouri asked unanimous consent to offer a resolution making the free silver coinage bill on the calendar continuing a special order from Tuesday next. Mr. Steele of Indiana objected.

The House then took a recess until 7:30, the evening session to be for the consideration of pension bills. After passing a few pension bills the House adjourned.

Our Fast Orange Train.

Washington Notes.

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 19.—A bill introduced by Senator Bowen changing the basis of the banking circulation provides for the retirement of all National Bank notes and the substitution of United States notes on the basis of silver and gold coin of the United States, the bonds to be deposited in the United States Treasury. The banks are to receive from the Treasury of the United States notes for circulation to an amount 30 per cent. greater than the par value of the security thus deposited, and a statutory lien is created on the general assets of the bank as an additional security. The free coinage of silver is also provided for and many changes are proposed in existing laws concerning National Banks, including the right on the part of banks to withdraw one-third in the bonds on substituting a like amount in gold and silver and an equal proportion of the tax on the circulation is to be placed in the United States Treasury as a general safety fund to use in case of failing banks.

Senator Morrill to-day from the Committee on Finance reported favorably the bill which passed the House four days ago to enable national banking associations to increase their capital stock and change their names with the approval of the Comptroller of Currency by a vote of shareholders owning two-thirds of the stock.

The House Committee on Postoffices and Post Roads to-day unanimously agreed to report adversely all the bills before it for the purchase or construction of telegraph lines by the government. On March 3d and 4th the committee will hear arguments from all persons who desire to address the Committee on the subject of government contracts with telegraph companies.

NEWS OF THE WORLD.

The Pacific Mail Steamship Company.

WAR WITH THE RAILROADS.

The Company Will Increase the Steamer Line From New York to San Francisco.

Special to the Herald by the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, February 19.—The Mail and Express says: The executive committee of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company held a meeting this morning when notice was served upon it by the Pacific railroads, terminating the contract whereby the steamship company received a subsidy of $85,000 per month. The result of the meeting is embodied in the following resolutions:

WHEREAS, This company has received notice from the Transcontinental Association abrogating the existing contract, thirty days from the 18th inst.,

Resolved, That the President be and he is hereby instructed to establish a weekly through line from New York to San Francisco, via the Isthmus of Panama, on and after April 1st next, taking all through business at the best rates attainable; also that he is hereby instructed at once to take measures for the purchase of steamers suitable for the business, and to build first-class ships of not less than 3500 tons; and report as soon as practicable to this committee.

It is well known that Mr. Houston, President of the company, was opposed to the existing contract when it was first entered into, on the ground that the Pacific Mail Company could reasonably ask for better terms. Such opposition as he met with has entirely disappeared and the company is now prepared to face whatever questions may arise from the new order of things. It is said that the Pacific Mail is in stronger financial position than for years and is otherwise well equipped for such a contest as is threatened. It is believed in some quarters, however, that efforts will be made to prevent the war, and that another contract will sooner or later be made with the steamship company, in which event the offices of the latter A. G. W. and sojourning Brothers in good standing are respectfully invited to participate.

You will meet at the A. O. U. W. Hall, Opera Block, at 1 o'clock, sharp.

Froze to Death.

Strangers, if you only knew the comforts and happiness of our orange groves, you would not fail to purchase one of those valley lots, before nightfall. People who come here do not want to return, after having enjoyed one winter in the Eden of the world, the lovely San Gabriel valley. Pasadena was selected from it, and is the cream of the valley. Do not buy on the hills until you see this lovely spot. The idea of people that have lived in Los Angeles one night advising people where to purchase property—advising old Californians not to buy in the valley. What does the public think of that? Perfectly outrageous—disgusting.

Spring Races.

Considerable interest is being manifested at this time in regard to a spring meeting at Agricultural Park. Some influence has been brought to bear to induce the District Agricultural Association to offer purses for three days races, the meeting to take place some time in May. But few horses are in training now, but horsemen are awake and ready to join in the matter and make an interesting occasion. The directors are considering the question and it will be decided in a few days. It certainly looks as though a spring meeting would be successful, and in no wise detract from the fall meeting, which is eight months from this time.

Bleeding and severe pain at stool, and a severe pain with or without bleeding, with a sore, small lump at mouth of rectum, without protrusion, tell you that you have Fissure. Cure guaranteed.

A discharge of matter from a small opening, or from small openings, having a hard pipe around opening, tell you that you have Fistula. Never allow the knife or ligature to be used. Cure guaranteed.

Constipation, slow, hard stool, want of expulsive power in rectum, frequent attacks of or constant diarrhœa, discharges of mucus, like white of egg, of blood and matter; itching about anus and sore when touched; smarting, aching and burning in rectum after stool; bearing down feeling, lame back, affected kidneys, liver, stomach, heart, numb limbs, burning soles of feet, dull pain in head, loss of memory, palpitation of heart, sick headache, vaginal and womb trouble, bladder and urinary trouble, pain in the abdomen, hips and feet; cough and so-called consumption; nervous prostration, dyspepsia, breaking down of the whole system; sallow complexion; distressed and wrinkled countenance; no desire to labor; energy gone; tired of life; Bright's disease of the kidneys; blood poison; blosting of abdomen and stomach, inflammation and soreness of bowels, weak limbs; pale, haggard look; one or more of these symptoms tell you plainly—Rectal Ulcer. No use to swallow medicine or travel for health, for neither will cure you. Whole families die with this malady, and the doctors call it CONSUMPTION, when it is no such thing. CURE GUARANTEED IF TAKEN IN TIME. The diseases we treat and guarantee to cure destroy thousands annually, very often the cause not being suspected. We know what we see. There is no guesswork in our practice. Come and judge for yourselves. Charges reasonable. Consultation and examination free.

CONSUMPTION

And all the various diseases of the HEAD, THROAT AND CHEST, INCLUDING THE EYE, EAR AND HEART

Successfully treated by M. Hilton Williams, M. D., M. C. P. S. O., 275 North MAIN Street, Los Angeles, Cal., (Next Diamond House.)

All diseases of the respiratory organs treated by the most improved medicated inhalations, combined with proper constitutional remedies for the liver, stomach, blood, etc. The efficacy of this system of practice is attested by the fact that out of 5,500 cases treated in Los Angeles during the past two years only twelve have died, and those had treatment only with a view of prolonging life.

CATARRH, ETC.

At times many of the symptoms of Catarrh may seem to abate, and the patient is led to hope that the disease is about to wear off, but another class of symptoms soon appears, and he learns to his horror that instead of recovery from the disease, it is somewhat changed in its character, and has extended to the throat. A sense of weariness is sometimes felt in reading, speaking or singing, hoarseness at times occurs, a sensation of dryness is felt in the throat, or it appears that some foreign substance, as for instance a hair, obstructed the throat; there becomes a sense of languor and fatigue, breath lessens upon a little exertion, a short, hacking cough, a peculiar sound in clearing the throat, a feeling as though there was not room enough in the chest to breathe; these and other symptoms occur after the disease has made considerable progress. Then it is a time when consumption is about to begin its dreadful work. Up to this time the progress of the disease may have been slow, and the patient may, in expressing his confident hope that it will "wear off," declare that he has had the catarrh for years, and has not seemed to become much worse, and insist that he will "by-and-by" recover; but this delusion is the grand error which has peopled our cemeteries with consumptive forms.

The people do not require to be told the symptoms of consumption, for there is scarcely a family whose circle has not been invaded by the destroyer—scarcely a home where some loved one has not felt its blight, and either passed away from earth or is wasting to-day and seeming the hopeless victim of this terrible disease.

The symptoms of the first stage of consumption are various. The following are prominent, and whenever any of them exist a thorough examination should always be made, which can be had free of charge, if shown to exist. There is usually a sense of weariness upon a little exercise, a disposition to remain passive and idle, despondency—oftentimes from no apparent cause, a peculiar sensitiveness to the effect of cold, and breathlessness upon moving quickly or ascending a hill or stairs, a slight hacking cough, with or without expectoration, excitability upon slight occasion, flying pains through the chest of back, or under the shoulder blades. The symptoms are more noticeable toward or during the night, slight fever in the afternoon; cold feet and hands, or in many cases a blue lividity of the lips and roots of the finger nails.

We positively affirm that three-fourths of the vast number who die of Consumption might be saved, did they awaken to the true sense of danger when the disease first appeared. The best physicians of the day, and the ablest physicians of the age, have expressed similar opinions.

Although our climate is the best in the world, still our friends should not depend upon climatic influences alone, for herein lies the mistake. Nearly every case requires positive medication, as well as proper climatic influences, so as to become rid of the offending matter—the consolidated portions of the lungs—thereby giving nature an opportunity to heal them.

CONSULTATION FREE.

Those who desire to consult with me in regard to their cases, or to location as to climate, had better call at my office for consultation and examination, but if impossible to do so can write for a copy of my Medical Treatise, containing a list of questions. Address

The Park Project.

As the warm weather comes on apace, and the mind turns to cool shades and rippling waters, the reversion is natural to the project of dedicating the 420 acre tract of the city to the purpose of a public park, as suggested by our farseeing and enterprising townsman, Judge Albert M. Stephens. The tract shows up in grand beauty at this time. The commanding peaks, grassy dells and lovely vistas, clothed in the vestments of spring, give us a hint of what the tract might and will be when improved and used as a place of resort, and a breathing spot for our people. What pleasant drives can be made of its winding cañons! What shady retreats of its grateful seclusions. "Oh for a lodge in some vast wilderness, a boundless contiguity of shade," sighed the poet. We have all the potentialities of a typical rural retreat, which should fully satisfy the most poetic aspiration for communion with nature, right here in the very grasp of the municipality. Shall it be ignored, and the opportunity wasted—the chance thrown away? We hope not. And what a grand field for storing up water it will furnish. Accessible to the flow from the river, and high above the city, artificial lakes, on which tiny boats of pleasure might float, and swans spread their snowy sails, could be easily, and at a comparatively small outlay, constructed in its cañons, which would also serve to perfection the more practical and greater use of furnishing us an inexhaustible supply of water for irrigation purposes. We are told that San Jose went nine miles to purchase an 1000 acre tract at Alum Rock, for a place of resort for its citizens. We have the finest natural site imaginable, inside our city limits, for such purpose, and we hope there will be no hesitation in dedicating it to its natural purpose. All that is necessary at present is for the Council to make the appropriate dedication, by ordinance. This will prevent any future devotion of the tract to private ownership or control. After this, a few roads and paths can be made, at small cost, over its extent, in favorable directions. Thenceforth, as time rolls on, the reservoirs, grass plats, ornamental trees and other requisite adjuncts will naturally supply themselves, as needed. Let the dedication be made without delay. A good act cannot be done too soon.

IN the Perkins-Baldwin case, just ended, a cause celebre in reality has come to a close. After a long and wearisome trial, including seventeen days during which the jury sat, not including Sundays, a verdict was rendered yesterday afternoon for one of the largest amounts ever known to be given in a similar case in the world. In the celebrated breach of promise case in England a few years ago, in which the Viscount Garmoyle was defendant, the verdict was only fifty thousand dollars, which was considered remarkable on account of its largeness. Society here in Los Angeles may rejoice that at last the prurient stream emanating from this case has been shut off. It is lamentable that the public taste requires the reporting of the incidents of such a trial at all. It is disgusting the manner in which some papers have endeavored to forestall public opinion in relation thereto, and to feed and gratify a morbid appetite for its most sickening details. The HERALD, on its part, has reported the entire evidence and incidents impartially, colorlessly and truthfully. We are glad the task is ended, and express the hope that if such a case is ever tried in our midst again, it will be tried with closed doors, actually as well as nominally.

THE remarkable cut in railroad rates to this coast can not but stimulate travel here from the East, while they last. Thousands will probably take advantage of the low fares and visit us, who have not heretofore intended to do so. To old settlers, who came across the plains, across the isthmus or "around the horn," it seems marvelous that one can reach San Francisco from Chicago, by rail, or return, for $70.40, first-class, unlimited; first-class, limited, $60.40; second class and emigrant, limited, $32. This is a reduction of about $35 on first-class rates prevailing before the "cut." According to our telegrams, there is a diversity of views among railroad men as to how long this sweeping reduction will continue. C. P. Huntington is reported to have said, in reference to his companies, "We are, and have been all along, in favor of low rates; we believe in getting people to California to settle the country," and more to the same effect, as reported elsewhere. This is a matter which affects the pocket of every dweller in California, and will be watched with interest by all.

IT seems that the "psychological storm" is not ended, here in Los Angeles, at any rate. As seen in our columns elsewhere, another sensation is on the tapis, that bids fair to equal the breach of promise case just closed.

Only Half Alive.

There are hosts of men and women who, to coin a phrase, are only half alive. That is to say they seldom, if ever have an appetite, are nervous, weak, fidgetty and troubled by numberless small pains and aches. In the presence of vigorous, exuberant vitality, they seem men pigmies. Such persons are usually fond of frequently dosing themselves, swallowing enough drugs in the course of a year to stock an apothecary's shop of average dimensions. This of course, defeats instead of furthering the end in view, viz: the recovery of health and vigor. Were they to seek it from an unfailing source of vitality, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, how different would be their case. Then vigor would return to their debilitated frames, the glow of health to their wan cheeks, their trembling and uncertain gait would grow firm and elastic, appetite, that grandest of all sauces would give a relish for the daily food, were it ever so coarse, and refreshing sleep would crown the tasks of the day.

Satisfactory Evidence.

J. W. Graham, wholesale druggist, of Austin, Tex., writes: "I have been handling Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the lungs for the past year and have found it one of the most salable medicines I have ever had in my house for coughs, colds and even consumption, always giving entire satisfaction. Please send me another gross.

Success at Home and Abroad.

The firm of S. Brown & Co., No. 213 South Spring street, have been meeting with good success in introducing in the towns and cities in the northern portion of this State, their wonderful hair reproducer and tonic known as the California Golden Age. Mr. Brown made a trip, visiting all towns along the Coast to San Francisco and met with great success. Many prominent gentlemen giving the article a trial pronounce it a good article and believe that in a short time it will take the lead in hair preparations. In several cases hair was made to appear in the short space of ten days upon bald heads, and in some of these cases the gentlemen were men of prominence. This firm is shipping their tonic in large and small quantities to all parts of the State. California is turning out many new and wonderful articles, and Los Angeles is doing her share, as the California Golden Age has had its birth and growth in this city and its sale has been very large, it giving satisfaction in every case and is recommended by many leading and prominent citizens as being a good hair tonic and hair reproducer. The firm of S. Brown & Co. warrant their preparations to be free from all oils or poisons. Send them your order, if its only for one bottle. Give it a trial; it costs but one dollar a bottle, or six for five dollars, and it is cheap at that price to any one that loves beautiful hair and a scalp free from dandruff. Their office and factory is 213 South Spring street, Los Angeles, S. Brown & Co., proprietors.

What a Wife Said.

Simply this and nothing more:
It came from C. F. Heinzeman's store;
Has proved to be a perfect cure,
Pleasant tasting, safe and sure.

That gum tree (eucalyptus) cough syrup, which is made from the eucalyptus, or blue gum, leaves of the Australian tree, and during its introduction on this coast has been proven to be the most valuable remedy for colds, coughs, sore throat, whooping cough, bronchitis and consumption. The only remedy that will not cause heartburn or disorder to the stomach in cases where consumption has got firm hold. Relieves the coughing, builds up the weak frame and is positively superior to any drug cough remedy. A dollar size package for seventy-five cents. ——C. F. HEINZEMAN, Agent, Los Angeles.

Important to Consumptives.

The people of Australia and of the State of California have been astonished at the wonderful curative power of Eucalyptus, or gum tree leaves, for all throat and lung diseases. A preparation called the "Gum Tree Cough Syrup," has rapidly sold all over our State, and is the only cure for a cold, whooping cough, bronchitis, etc., that will not make you sick at the stomach in taking. Relieves violent coughing; soothing to fever and all irritation. C. F. Heinzeman, sole agent, Los Angeles.

Medicated Inhalations.

No one can say aught against the use of medicated inhalations for lung diseases, on the contrary we are in favor of them, so says Dr. Williams, who has had the honor of treating over 57,000 patients during the past 14 years.

The Railroad War Still Continues.

FREIGHT RATES REDUCED.

The Trade of Southern California Seems to be the Bone of Contention.

Special to the Herald by Associated Press.

CHICAGO, February 19.—All the Chicago roads having transcontinental connections are booking passengers to San Francisco at the following figures: First class, unlimited, $70.40; first class, limited, $60.40; second class or emigrant, limited, $32. This is a reduction of about $35 on first class rates. Rates to Portland, Oregon, and to California via the Northern Pacific remain unchanged, no reductions having been announced. A prominent railroad official in commenting on the situation this morning said the action of the Pacific road in announcing the sale of unlimited tickets, means that old tariff will probably never again be imposed, as the rates allowed them nearly three cents a mile, which was an equitable return for so long a haul.

WHAT C. P. HUNTINGTON SAYS.

NEW YORK, February 19.—The Central and Southern Pacific people take the dissolution of the transcontinental pool philosophically; C. P. Huntington, stating the case thus: "I don't look for any more trouble than there has been under the pool. There was cutting then and there will be cutting now. Naturally it would be expected that we should discontinue the Pacific Mail subsidy. We are and have been all along in favor of low rates; we believe in getting people to California to settle the country. At our meetings we all agreed except the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, which wanted more than it earned or was able to earn. It earned twenty-two per cent. and wanted forty per cent. We objected and none of us feel particularly friendly to the Atchinson, Topeka & Santa Fe line. How long the cutting of rates will go on it is impossible to say."

IN SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, February 19.—Among the different agents of the roads formerly connected with the transcontinental pool, there was great bustle and excitement this morning. None of them hardly knew where they stood and all of them were eager to know what the other agents were doing in the way of cutting rates and to ascertain which had men engaged in going around to the different offices to ascertain what ticket were selling for. Before the little game was dropped upon, the ticket agents grew reticent and it was only upon the appearance of men who appeared to be bonafide inquirers for tickets that the agents unbosomed themselves.

The publication in the papers of the war rates has lead to unprecedented inquiries of the cost of tickets to the various points east, and the agents were kept busy answering inquiries. There is, however, little purchasing of tickets, as there is a general belief that rates will go still lower.

The lowest rates quoted to day are as follows: To New York, first-class, $70 or $80 for an unlimited ticket. To Chicago, $55 first-class or $65 for an unlimited. To New York, third-class, $40. To Chicago, third-class, $30.

GOOD EFFECT OF THE WAR.

SAN FRANCISCO, February 19.—Commenting on the war in rates now prevailing, the Bulletin this morning says: "It is believed not only in the East, but here, that the rates will never be restored to the old figures, and that the permanent reduction will be of immense benefit to California by attracting hither a very large number of persons of the best kind for permanent residents, who have been kept away by the high rates. With the exodus of the Chinese, which it is confidently expected will be one of the beneficial results of the war, a large influx of house servants from the East is expected. Girls who have heard of the good wages here and the hostility to the Chinese, and who have $60 and $70 laid up, will, as soon as they find the Mongolians evacuating the kitchen, come out to take their places. This phase of the labor question in the States is therefore liable to be satisfactorily disposed of by low passenger rates.

LOS ANGELES CAUSES THE WAR.

CHICAGO, Ill., February 19th.—An overland railway war growing out of the collapse of the Transcontinental Association was instituted to-day in a thoroughly aggressive way, both as to passenger and freight traffic. All lines running west and southwest from this city having California connection were booking passengers to-day to San Francisco at $70 for first-class, unlimited; $60 for first-class, limited; $42 for second-class and emigrant. In the matter of contracting for freight no rates are quoted, but agents have been given carte blanche to secure business at any figures, and it is known that very large reductions are being made. The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe did not announce its rate until this morning, waiting until the initative had been taken by the Union and Southern Pacific companies. The officials of the Atchison company assert that the war has been forced upon them against their wishes and owing to their claim to what they deemed an equitable percentage of overland traffic. The First Vice-President oi the Atchison company to-day, speaking of the situation, said that the company had given notice of its intention to withdraw from the Transcontinental Association on December 4th, 1885, for the reasons that it was not being conducted upon what they deemed proper business principles. The Atchison Company had purchased an unfinished railroad in Southern California known as the California Southern and afterward proceeded to construct 100 miles additional from Colton, the junction with the Southern Pacific, to Barstow, the junction with the Atlantic & Pacific road, which was completed on November 1st. The purchase and completion of this road placed the Atchison Company, according to its claim, in a position to handle and control at least one-half of the business to and from Southern California. There were but two roads into that territory, and they claimed that they were entitled to 50 per cent of the business. It was on this claim that the Association split at its meeting in New York City. The Atchison Company asked that California be divided into two districts, the northern to lie north of Mojave and the southern south of that point. All of the other roads in interest, the Southern Pacific, Central Pacific, Texas Pacific, Union Pacific, Denver & Rio Grande and the Burlington and Missouri in Nebrasba, opposed this claim of the Atchison Company. The official, summing up, said: "Throughout the entire contest the Atchison Company has been on the defensive, but inasmuch as the Union and Southern Pacific roads have seen fit to initiate a war in rates it is the purpose of our company to meet them at every corner and to see that the public has the full benefit to be derived, if such thing is possible, from low transportation. While the Atchison Company deeply regrets the position into which it has been forced through the combined action of other members of the association, and fully realizes the deplorable results which are to be expected and which have always heretofore been obtained, so far as revenue is concerned, from the war in rates, they do not propose to give up the contest until the question of equity is conceded to their interests. None of the leading officials of any of the other roads directly in interest have been in the city, and their views upon the situation have not been obtained. The connecting roads out of this city are passive and do not expect to become embroiled in the fight beyond reducing through rates to the extent of the reduction of rates announced by the warring roads from their terminal points.

FREIGHT RATES CUT.

NEW YORK, February 19.—To day the Eastern agent of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad received orders to cut freight tariff rates to meet those offered by any of the western lines. As a result, freight by rates were to-day reduced about 30 per cent. The Sunset Route has also cut rates, but to what extent is not generally known. Shippers at this time of the year are not making many consignments, and the roads therefore make liberal terms with them, in order to secure business. It is, therefore, difficult to ascertain at the offices of the company just what rates are made. The officials of the Sunset Route are now at work upon the new tariff schedule, which it is expected will be completed and put into force on or before Monday next. A meeting of the Union Pacific, Northern Pacific and Oregon and Transcontinental Companies' Presidents is being held here to-day to determine what action shall be taken by these roads in relation to the Pacific Coast passenger and freight rates. It is expected that a uniform and reduced schedule will be agreed upon which will bring to these roads their share of western business. The Baltimore & Ohio road this morning was the first and only trunk line out of New York which reduced its passenger tariff to San Francisco in accordance with the recently adopted cut of the lines west of the Missouri river. Rates to San Francisco are as follows: Unlimited tickets, $83.50; first-class, limited, $73.50; second-class, $48. Other trunk lines will probably follow to-morrow.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

The New York Stock Market.

NEW YORK, February 19.—Government bonds dull and steady.

The raid on stocks was renewed this morning with great vigor. Opening prices were very irregular, although a majority of stocks were ½ to ¾ per cent lower, while Pacific Mail was down 1½ per cent. Soon after the opening a drive was made at the whole list, with special attention given to Pacific Mail, Union Pacific and Lackawanna. It looked at one time as if the whole capital stock of some of the roads was being dumped on the market in a heap. The heaviest decline in the forenoon was in Lackawanna, which after opening at 130¾ sold at 131 and then yielded to 127⅞. Delaware & Hudson fell 3 per cent, Pacific Mail 2¾ and Union Pacific 2¾. The lowest figures of the day were generally made before noon, and after midday considerable business was developed, which continued until 3 o'clock. The afternoon trading was less active, especially later in the day, and the market closed generally dull and firm.

Dr. Quinlan's Opinion of Mullein

Abietene and Yerba Santa are strictly products of California. Mullein is a product of the world. Dr. Quinlan, of Dublin, in a paper read before the Medical Congress at Copenhagen, says Mullein has greater curative powers than Cod Liver Oil and equal to Russian Koumiss, and it has been demonstrated that Abietene and Yerba Santa have equal if not greater curative powers than Mullein. Abietene Cough Balsam combines the three with other well-known expectorants and Narcotics (without opium) making it the greatest and best cough medicine ever produced. Price 75 cents. Sold by C. F. Heinzeman.

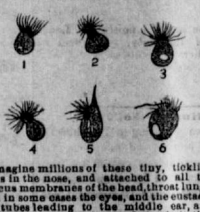
CATARRH!
A NEW TREATMENT.
Consumption and Bronchitis
CURED BY INHALATION.
Blood Diseases of All Kinds, Diseases of Women, as well as all Chronic Complaints, Treated Specially and Successfully by
W. N. DAVIS, M. D.,
M. C. P. S. O.,
Graduate of Chicago Homœopathic College, Chicago, and College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario, Toronto, Canada.
DIPLOMAS HANG IN OFFICE.
CATARRH
Treated upon a new principl, founded upon the fact now generally acknowledged by the most scientific men, that the disease is caused by the presence of living parasites in the tissues. The parasites can be demonstrated by aid of the microscope and will present the appearance given below:



Imagine millions of these tiny, tickling bugs in the nose, and attached to all the mucus membranes of the head, throat lungs, and in some cases the eyes, and the eustachian tubes leading to the middle ear, and you will readily understand the irritation they can produce.
Our treatment, which destroys these parasites, will arrest the worst cases of nasal catarrh and pharyngitis in from a few days to a few weeks. Bronchitis is nothing more than catarrh of the surfaces leading to the lungs. This disease is frequently mistaken for consumption, of which the symptoms are very similar. The large majority of cases can be cured by aid of our new inhalation treatment.
CONSUMPTION.
The symptoms of this disease are gradual and constant increasing emaciation, pale or sallow skin, great debility, frequent flushes of the face, alternating with paleness, without any particular cause or upon the slightest exertion, increasing susceptibility to colds. Expectoration yellow, perhaps offensive and streaked with blood. Dry hacking cough entirely relieved. Hoarse throat, shortness of breath, especially upon going up stairs, chilly sensations, and a pink-red line on the lower gums.
More or less pain and soreness are noticable about the chest.
Later we have night sweats, diarrhoea, and swelling of the feet.
If you have part of these symptoms do not think it is merely a cold that will soon pass off, but take treatment while the disease is firmly seated, and you can be cured.
In the later stages life can be prolonged, and comfort given to the patient, by aid of our inhalations, which ease the coughing, facilitate expectoration, and promote healthy and refreshing sleep.
Constitutional remedies hasten the cure by building up the system generally, purifying the blood, etc.
The treatment can be used at home without detention from business.
BLOOD DISEASES.
Blood diseases are numerous; they may take the form of scrofula, may cause ulcers, abscesses, different skin diseases or merely pimples on the face. Sometimes enlarged glands, having the appearance of tumors, are noticed in various portions of the body, especially the neck and groins.
We will guarantee a cure in every case, whether recent, of one, or forty years standing. No mercury is used. Tendency to cancer, scrofula or cancer in the earlier stages, is entirely eradicated from the system by our blood remedies.
LADIES'
Diseases peculiar to ladies treated with care and discretion. Our testment is new and pleasant as well as successful in nearly every case.
LADIES' DAYS, Wednesdays and Saturdays.
Certain hours will be granted to individual cases so patients will not be obliged to wait.
GENTLEMEN.
Evenings will be devoted to the treatment of the ailments of men. Are you a lame back, Aching of the bones of the legs, Vertigo, Weakness of Memory, Languor, If so, come and see us and we promise you a sure cure.
The following testimonials will show the rapidity with which we can cure diseases of our specialty. Hundreds of these can be seen at office.
This is to certify that I am a regularly qualified physician, but not practicing, and have always believed catarrh out of reach of nasal variety to be an incurable affliction, but hearing of Dr. W. N. Davis' "New Treatment," and his success, I applied to him for medicine and consultation for my ill in the case of one of my friends, and did so with the most satisfactory results, as improvement was immediate, and one prescription effected a cure. The case was of years' standing and of a very severe type. I can recommend Dr. Davis to those afflicted.
S. HALEY, M. D.
Los Angeles, Aug. 1st, 1885.
January 2d, 1886. Doctor Haley testifies that the case he treated five months ago is still a cure. Doctor Haley is now practicing law at 43½ N. Spring street.
This is to certify that I was troubled for six years with what seemed to be an incurable disease and had employed the abilities of some of the best physicians of San Bernardino, Los Angeles and San Francisco. I then determined to try Homœopathy and consulted Dr. W. N. Davis, 45½ N. Spring street, Los Angeles, and within two months I was entirely cured. S. S. BALL.
Anaheim, California.
DR. W. N. DAVIS: I have been troubled with catarrh of the dry variety for about five years, since three years before I came to California, and in one month I feel that I have been entirely cured by your remedies.
PETER NIES.
Los Angeles, July 4, 1885. P. O. Box 825.
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14, 1885.
DR. W. N. DAVIS—DEAR SIR—I beg to acknowledge the benefit I have received from your Homœopathic remedies, which I consider almost miraculous.
I was troubled for three years with a complication of diseases which had baffled the skill of ten Allopathic physicians. Some said that I had "Bright's disease," others "spinal disease," and others "heart disease." I was troubled with pains all over my body, was confined to the house and was almost paral zed. Now, after treating with you for little more than a month, I am free from pain, and can walk half a mile without difficulty. I go to church and sit through service with no inconvenience, which I could not do before.
I am still improving in strength and think in a few weeks more I will be a well woman.
Thanking you for what you have done for me, I am yours truly,
MRS. MARY LOUTHAN,
422 South Los Angeles street.
October 20th, 1885, Mrs. Louthan testifies that she is entirely cured.
This is to certify that I have been troubled for four years with Bronchitis, and in six weeks I have been almost entirely cured by Dr. W. N. Davis, and have had no subsequent attacks since I commenced treatment.
I can recommend Dr. Davis to any who are troubled

Chances for Health and Disease.

Man is dependent upon his surroundings for the necessities of life. Air and water are necessities of life, but impure air and impure water are most prolific sources of disease. Food is also a necessity of life, but numerous diseases are traceable both to the lack of necessary food, and an over indulgence in special kinds of nourishment. Besides these external sources of disease, there are other more subtle and internal causes. Each individual inherits from his parents a certain physical constitution. Such person, therefore, derives his chances for health and disease from a double source, namely his inherited constitution and his surroundings in life. Sanitary science advises attention to our surroundings. Medical science seeks to overcome the constitutional or inherited weakness by medicines that supply what is wanting in the system. Dr. Pierce's Dy-spepsia Cure supplies that which is wanting to insure proper assimilation and digestion of the food. Try it. For sale at Littleboy's drug store.

MOTHERS, BUY B. & S. HOMEOPATHIC Cough & Croup Syrup HAS STOOD THE TEST OF TIME

Price per Bottle, - - Fifty Cents.

The Safest, Most Reliable and One of the Oldest Family Medicines in the Market

Thousands of families are constantly using it in different parts of the Union. Recommended by physicians as the most convenient and surest remedy for CROUP. Keep it on hand for emergencies. The attacks of Croup come on so suddenly and unexpectedly, generally in the middle of the night, when no medical aid cannot so readily be obtained, that a POSITIVE REMEDY FOR CROUPY COUGH—one that is speedy in its action, pleasant to the taste and always ready for use—becomes a great desideratum. All these conditions are fulfilled in B. & S. Homeopathic Cough and Croup Syrup.

This preparation has been in use for over twenty five years, and thousands of valuable lives have been saved. As a remedy for Coughs, Catarrh on the Chest, Bronchitis and Pneumonia it is without a peer, for children as well as adults. In Asthma, especially Humid Asthma, it greatly aids in cutting short the paroxysms and preventing their return.

B. & S. Homeopathic Cough and Croup Syrup does away with the necessity of resorting to all sorts of soothing syrups which annually destroy as many little lives as this preparation saves. It assists nature in curing or relieving all diseases of the respiratory organs, whether acute or chronic.

The above to be had at all drug stores, or may be obtained direct from our

HARDEN'S

Improved Nest Grenade Fire Extinguishers.

Awarded First Prize Gold Medal New Orleans Exposition.

No Hotel, Store, Private or Public Dwelling Should be without Them.

EXHIBITIONS GIVEN IN THE STREETS OF LOS ANGELES and all over the world, have proven it to be the most wonderful Fire Extinguisher. Its work is magical. It gives safety to a combustible property. Its contents are perfectly harmless to the finest fabrics or paints, and can be swallowed without danger. The improved Grenades are made in sections and will break but easily, even if thrown into a pile of shavings, and are stopped with a rubber stopper forced in by hydraulic pressure, absolutely preventing the escape of the gasses, without which the Grenade is valueless.

PILES! PILES! PILES!

A SURE CURE FOUND AT LAST!

NO ONE NEED SUFFER.

A sure cure for Blind, Bleeding, Itching and Ulcerated Piles has been discovered by Dr. Williams (an Indian Remedy), called Dr. Williams's Indian Pile Ointment. A single box has cured the worst chronic case of 25 or 30 years' standing. No one need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions, instruments and electories do more harm than good. Williams's Indian Pile Ointment absorbs the tumors, allays the intense itching, particularly at night after getting warm in bed, acts as a poultice, gives instant relief, and is prepared only for Piles, itching of the private parts, and for nothing else.

Read what the Hon. J. M. Comfinberry of Cleveland says about Dr. Williams's Indian Ointment: "I have used several Pile Cures, and it affords me pleasure to say that I have never found anything which gave such immediate and permanent relief as Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment." For sale by druggists and mailed on receipt of price, $1.

FOR SALE.

A BLOCK ON MAIN STREET,

Between Fourth Street and Ozier Lane, 215.15 feet on Main street, 150 feet on Fourth to 20-foot alley, for $21,515—one hundred dollars per front foot. But little cash required. Possession after ninety days.

TWO LOTS

On South side of Sand street, at corner Prospect Place, 60x130 feet. Price, $1150.

CHOICE LOTS

On the west side of Beaudry street, 180 feet south of Cable Road, 60x155, to a 20-foot alley. $1000.

540 Acres of Land

Between San Rafael and Providencia Ranch; last season in wheat; surface-water near; fine soil, suited to grapes, apricots, etc.; also bearing orchards and vineyards adjoining. Price for choice, $35 per acre in 20 acre lots; not acres, no roads sold. Terms, one-third cash, balance in one and two years, at 8 per cent.

4,000 ACRES

Of land in Tejunga Rancho, at from $5 to $100 per acre; abundance of irrigation water, as 800 acres will have the first right to and all that is necessary for its use out of five-eighths of all the water of the ranch, the other three-eighths belonging to the Monte Vista settlement; $25 per acre of the price of the irrigable land will be left on the land to be expended in improving the irrigation facilities. A flag station at a convenient point on the Southern Pacific Railroad will be at once established. There is on the tract a beautiful cove in the foothills of 320 acres of irrigable land, surrounded by low hills, suitable for vines. This would make a beautiful place for a settlement.

THE LICK TRACT

Last, but not least, I am now subdividing the last purchase of Mr. Howard W. Mills, Alexander Feusey and myself.

Come and investigate the Lick Tract. It adjoins Los Angeles City; contains twenty-four hundred acres, and equals anything in Southern California. It will be sold in lots of five acres or more at prices from forty to one hundred and fifty dollars per acre, with water. This is the choice of the county. Title perfect; a full abstract will be furnished with each lot sold.

M. L. WICKS does not act as an Agent, and can generally make terms and prices to suit the purchaser.

Several hundred acres of land two miles northwest of Orange at from $15 to $65 per acre. Irrigation right, about $12 per acre, in addition. Surface water at shallow depth. Examine this, as it is too far for me to look after, and is low priced.

40 Acres in the Puente Ranch,

On the south side of the county road, extending to railroad. Fine chocolate soil, a beautiful building site, gentle slope to the south; water ditch to be hereafter constructed. Present price, $40 per acre.

BEARDLESS BARLE

PERKINS VS. BALDWIN.

Seventeenth and Last Day of the Great Trial.

THE LONG ARGUMENT CLOSED.

Instructions to the Jury and the Case Given Them—Verdict $75,000.

By half-past 8 yesterday morning all approaches to the Superior Court were thronged by the crowd anxious to secure a place to stand and watch the closing scenes in the great breach of promise case wherein Miss Louise C. Perkins sues Mr. E. J. Baldwin for half a million dollars. It was the seventeenth day of the trial, and the case was to go to the jury by noon. When the doors were thrown open the crowd came in like a torrent and filled up the whole area. As the clock struck 9 Deputy Sheriff Martin Aguirre declared the court opened. Deputy Clerk A. N. Hamilton called the roll of jurors, who were all present.

HON. S. M. WHITE

Resumed his argument, with a promise of briefness so far as he could control the matter. What I shall say will be my views of the testimony and I shall endeavor to remove any misconception that might gather in your minds. I will do it as briefly as I can, and I shall have to take witnesses and give you what I consider the value of their testimony and the motives for which they gave it. The plaintiff was born in 1866. All to the contrary is naked assertion. She is, therefore, 19 years old. Her face, considering her sad experience, does not indicate a greater age. So far as her life in Ventura is concerned we have nothing to do with it beyond what is enclosed in the evidence. The reason of their reference to her course in Ventura is that Baldwin does not come here and say we were not engaged, but they say we were not engaged and if we were her conduct gave me a right to break it. They should not fish for a verdict in that way. They should plead one way or other. But on the hypothesis that they were engaged he brings in this Ventura testimony to show her unchaste conduct is an excuse to break off. This is the purport of the Cawelti testimony. I desire to call your attention to this testimony. He appears to be a peculiar character for an honest farmer. In all classes of people you will find scrubs. The general reputation of this man has nothing to do with it. We did not choose to go to Ventura to get testimony to rebut their witnesses. A man may have a good reputation at one time and lose it. I do not know his financial condition. Now the general effect of his testimony is repellant. He comes here to swear against a poor girl for a man well able to take care of himself. He comes from a distance, without a subpœna, to do this. He seeks an opportunity to testify that this girl at fourteen years of age was depraved and immoral. Charity is one of the noblest attributes of the good man. A man like this defendant to come here and seek to defame the character of of this child is not admirable. Cawelti says this occurred in 1878. (Here the testimony was appealed to by counsel.) They left in '78. It did not occur in the year they left. In any case it occurred eight or nine months, or perhaps eleven, before they left. Now take Methvin: He says it was '78. Cawelti adopts '78. The fact is this girl never saw Sweeney until a few weeks before she left. Now what is Cawelti, an honest farmer or a miserable perjurer! But he says Sweeney told him about the sleeping in her bedroom. Why should Sweeney make such a statement when in fact he never slept in the house in his life. Now what kind of a person is this fellow Sweeney. (The Court here remarked that the slightest demonstration would subject the maker thereof to expulsion from the room.) The story about this small room in which all the family and Sweeny slept is ridiculously improbable. The fact is the first they ever saw of Sweeney was a few days before they came here. If you heard as Sweeney did that a scoundrel was going to blacken the fame of this girl would you not come if you knew the story to be told was false! It had been rumored around that Cawelti was to swear to this story. There is no contradiction of the statement that Collier had approached this boy Sweeney. He had too much square manhood. They had to get his poor old father to hobble in here and impeach him. But Sweeney came here and to me he had the manner of a truthful man. We have plenty of testimony that Perkins had a large house; that they never saw Sweeney until they were about to come here. Now, are you not bound to throw out this fellow's testimony? There is Mrs. Dexter and the rape—well, if that is true, it is nothing against the girl. But the story is utterly improbable. There is one question in Mrs. Dexter's testimony that I want to speak of. We were told in court that she was dangerously sick. They had that done before. But that would not do. They wanted to change their theory. The San Jose record would not permit them to swear Louise slept with her every night during the first visit to San Francisco. That would not do. She had to hedge. She hedged by saying she was very sick before. Her story is true now. It was off then.

* * * * * * * * *

(Mrs. Dexter's testimony was here reviewed at length and discredit thrown on it at all points.) My object was to show that she was not so sick as she pretended to be. Her humor with the lawyers proved this. But when she was pressed on any hard point she became very tired. I do not like to reflect too hard on any one. But I would not like to put too implicit confidence in her peculiar statement. * * She is the person who told us about the Ben Culpin affair, about the rape affair, about getting "gloriously drunk" at San Bernardino! Do you believe her? Do you not think she would swear to anything to help Baldwin out. I do not wish to say any more of her than I have to. There is Mrs. Ludwig; she is one of the persons Louise wanted to get off the ranch. All these people whom Louise tried to get off the ranch are here to testify. Mrs. Ludwig comes here and tells her story. If she tells the truth she is in very bad company nursing Mrs. Dexter. I believe I have satisfied you the Cawelti story is not true; that the rape episode was not true, now what do you think of the Ben Culpin affair? Remember how she told that story; remember all the circumstances of the case; the open barn where the doors were open and every one went. I do no see why an idiot should select such a place for such an act. It is utterly improbable. It does not surprise me that Mrs. Ludwig, with all her long association with Mrs. Dexter, should tell the hugging story. With all their efforts they have not been able to shake the proposition that this little girl came to Baldwin pure. You know how it is in the country; children mix together; those who are robust and healthy are likely to be gay and frolicsome; this is not a crime. The affable and lively are usually the best. There are many demure girls who fall sooner than those who in childhood are termed wild and come out all right. She went to school. The teacher tells you all about her. She was all right. She was like any ordinary child. She went from there to Baldwin's ranch; which not fully a woman. She was approaching that critical stage. Who was the first to lure her with sweet words and presents? Mrs. Dexter. This little child, pure and guileless, went to open the gates. Mrs. Dexter ingratiated herself into the girl's good graces. One day Baldwin saw her. He said, "I have heard of you before." Mrs. Dexter had told him. No one was there to tell how Mrs. Dexter told Baldwin of this pretty girl. We do not know how they laid their plot, whatever it was. I do not blame anyone but Baldwin and Mrs. Dexter. Her parents saw there an old grey-haired woman. They had a right to presume she would be safe there. * * When Baldwin proposed to the girl to kiss her it was nothing more than such a proposition from any one of mature years. Have you not entrusted your children in the hands of the aged? Tell me if that trust was betrayed? Is there any punishment too great for such a man? Baldwin tells us she threw herself into his arms and he was forced to yield. Do you believe that any more than you do the story of Cawelti and Harris? What, this child, pure, guileless, with her future before her, "sailing down the stream of life with flowers on either hand." What was there to fascinate this child to do this thing? I do not believe there was anything in this man to have so won her affections in a few short days. In the name of humanity I declare I do not believe this story!

She goes to San Francisco. Do you remember one phase in Mrs. Dexter's testimony? She says Louise went under her protection. Mrs. Perkins says Baldwin told her he would care for her as for his own child. She saw the fine city, the beautiful theater, the luxurious hotel, his elegant apartments. She was there with him and Mrs. Dexter. She was in their power. Some others might have yielded. But on whom should the child rest for advice if not on the old and the experienced? We want you to judge her as she was—a child—and then as they were—people of experience. I read the testimony to Mrs. Dexter and she admitted that Louise was away one night. Baldwin says she went to the races with him. She objected, but he had made the engagement and Mrs. Dexter told her it was all right. She went to Sacramento with him, and there her ruin was wrought. Mrs. Dexter, under whose protection she was told her to do it. Baldwin, who had said he would treat her as a child, told her it was all right. I do not say he ever intended to marry her. But I do say he made the promise for some purpose. Counsel for defendant say the manner of "popping the question" was rather strange. Well, if there is anything that is not done under rule it is this matter of getting your courage to the "sticking point." Why does she not remember all the rest of the conversation? I do not know. Perhaps some of you can tell all the surroundings of the time when you did a like thing as getting engaged. It is queer, they say, that no one was present at that time. My experience is that there is not usually a large crowd around when these contracts are made.

* * * *

A man who has a mistress does not usually take her about and introduce her to his friends. He does not take her to a jeweler's and get her finger measured for a ring and while that was done he allowed her to take a $1,600 ring to wear for a while. How natural such a thing when a man is making such a pledge. He may not have been sincere. But he wanted her to believe he was. He took her around and introduced her to respectable society. Can I believe he would do this with a mere mistress? Perhaps he did at one time intend to make her his wife. But when he had access to her before the marriage he then made up his mind he would not fulfill his vow. But I cannot but think he did intend at first to wed her. I cannot believe he could take her from her mother as he did to ruin her. He did everything a man could do to impress her and make her think he would marry her. He left her in the hands of the skilled Dexter. He showed her all his possessions; all the great city with all its jewels and fine raiment, art and all the alluring baits that ever were used to entrap the soul. (The attorney here took up per return to San Francisco and explained how the inconsistencies might arise in the testimony as to when she told the engagement to her parents.)

* * * * * * *

Gradually she learned Baldwin's reputation was not the best. But they had her in their power. The serpent's fangs were in her, and she feared to irritate them. Right here on this trip, and at other times, you see how it was. She was under his control. Her parents did not know of her ruin. She clung to him in hope that he might rescue her by marriage. In 1884 she felt she was repudiated. This explains her letters to Blackley and others. This explains her letters to Baldwin in which she called him "friend." As to the action of the Perkinses—we know Baldwin, but they did not. Do you think the words of counsel are true that they have "sold their baby for gold!" Gentlemen, I do not believe it. The child went to San Francisco again. He had lured her to her ruin and she followed him with Mrs. Laird. The story about the interviews with Laird are under ordinary circumstances here improbable. But she knew Baldwin. She knew how false were his promises. She went there to do this thing. She cared not for Baldwin. She had the instinct of a good woman. The girl was her friend. She tried the best she could to make that man keep his promise. They brought Lulu Drum here to impeach her. I do not care to go into pencilled eyes. They say Lulu was not painted. I do not care for this. The young lady sat up there and gave all her testimony with a degree of correctness that was really quite charming. I do not say anything as to the degree of credibility to be attributed to the testimony. She has no doubt committed a good many pages of ancient history and a good many poems. I do not see why she could not cosmit this story. But if she (Lulu Drum) did tell the truth, it is not material. By our theory it is quite possible that the whole thing might be true. Her deference for Baldwin would account for Louise's confusion even if they were engaged. Millions of money beget great consideration. She thought him a remarkable man. He is a remarkable man. He goes to Lake Tahoe, Tallac Hotel. He had enjoyed the person of this girl. He had ruined her. Shame has made her afraid. But I will pass him as he is not on trial here. Judge Deady's opinion is here. Well, we will not bring in here the able opinion of Judge Sullivan, which is entirely opposite. The case is still in court and Judge Deady's opinion may be superseded. When Baldwin was at Tallac, by our theory, he did not intend to write a letter which could be brought up against him. He sat there and wrote about the beauties of the place. [Here the Colton letter was read.] If this man's heart was bad—if he intended to cast her off—he desired to keep her all right for a while longer. He would keep her from telling it to any one. "His bones are marrowless and his blood is cold." It is like him. He says Tallac is grander than the Santa Anita, etc. How could a man stand there and look at the face of that lovely lake, upon the lofty pines, the rugged rocks upon the crest of those everlasting mountains, and all around everything green and lovely—the man who could look on that scene, pure as the soul of this girl—that water, cold as his own heart—amid a thunderstorm and write to her as he writes in one whose heart is hard indeed. [Here the "lace curtain" letter was read.] Is this like the letter of a mistress? She seems to know or think she is in possession there. He speaks of all his business to her. He says Louise's enemies must go. He calls Mrs. Dexter "the old hag." He knew she was at Colton. He knew what she was doing there. He knew what a country hotel was. But these letters show she was not regarded as a mere mistress. He had some solicitude for her. If Mrs. Laird did let the Shoth woman get into her house it was an error of the heart. She wanted to give this woman a chance to reform. [Here the testimony on the reputation of the Colton House was read and the attorney contended from his view that there is no good evidence that the house was not proper in all respects with the simple exception of the presence of the Shoth woman and she behaved herself all the time she was there, and this girl knew of nothing wrong. That she may have gone behind the bar and even served drinks on an occasion now and then, he thinks not altogether proper—"not such a thing as a child should do," but he thinks it all summed up, the drives and frolics of all sorts, and their short notice to get witnesses all considered, sufficient to blame the girl.

* * * * * * *

They have offered us a reward to prove Baldwin paid out money. It is a hard thing. We have shown a good deal of smoke and we think there is a presumption of fire. The fact that Hughes clapped his hand on his pocket and the assertion that he said if he were a witness he would be in easy circumstances, the attorney thought went far to establish the fact. The Earps, old and young, take a good deal of interest in it. Take the old man as he is. He was getting up a ball, he says; his wife was going; he did not because he found out what it was when he went to sell tickets; he had been there before; he had drank there; he had seen these people; yet he did not know until he went to sell tickets. The shooting scrape and the throwing of the water, with the peculiarly nasty words used, were only sworn to by Virgil Earp. The old Earp, the virtuous Earp, knew of all this; yet he was going to take his wife there after this. This old man is the only one who would swear that this woman had the reputation of being a prostitute. Now put them all up and from what you saw, if they all swore in a row, what would you believe of it, all? Then we have Campbell. He knew that place. He had stopped there repeatedly. Yet he takes his wife there when he knew it all. All these people who testify against this house stopped there. Went away and went back again. It is the same with the European hotel. They made a signal failure to show the bad reputation of these places. * * * Then there is the man Williams. We did impeach him. There were persons of good standing there who said the reputation of Williams for truth, honesty and integrity was bad. How did they support his reputation? There was not one of the witnesses who were brought here whose testimony did amount to anything.

* * * * * * *

Now take Williams and his testimony—do you believe him? The girl denies flatly his story. His testimony is impeached. There are the various witnesses from Colton. Do you want us to do any more to prove they are perjured men? Do you doubt the girl's story? If you do not then you have to take the oath of these men. (Here the poor old "Mother Hubbard" dress and the alleged garish "Kate Castleton" bonnet were again held up and torn to tatters.) This was the scare crow that terrified Meeks, that made Virgil Earp turn pale, that so stirred the heart of Baldwin's propriety. If she was a little too "fresh" at Colton Baldwin laid the foundation for such conduct.

ANOTHER PHASE

Of this is that Baldwin had a right to break any engagement that might have existed, on account of plaintiff's subsequent unchaste conduct.

Ike Harris comes here in flaming garb. He comes here and tells you of the days when, on their way down from Ventura, he courted Louise and they were engaged. He goes to the Perkins ranch. He does not like Baldwin. He is jealous of the millionaire. But one day he was in the river bottom, on his way to El Monte. The moon was in the last quarter, and at 8 in the evening. Here he saw the scene near the road. There was the girl who had captured his heart, violating every principle of morality. He did not think much of it. He is slow. He goes to the Monte. He gets his tobacco. About six months after he broke the engagement—not for the river bad matter, but because she was going with Baldwin. A month later he goes to Clark, to get that man to intercede for him. He goes down and tells Mr. Coble that he had offered money for her virtue; that he had failed. Ike could not reconcile these things. He admitted after a long time that he had told a lie in one case. Halstead comes here and swears he saw Mrs. Laird go before him and her mother with a strange man into a bedroom. They were all off as to the number of the room. Here is Halstead and swears to this story. He swears positively. From the testimony of Thomas and others, and from his own admission, he said he would like to get money out of the case. He said he knew what was favorable to the girl. Why did he not tell it? Like Hughes he was looking for money. Like Hughes he was expecting money. Shimman said Halstead had declared he would get money out of it some way. They say they were in fun when they made these remarks. They are funny witnesses. Blackley's letters from Louise were written in the latter part of 1884. She had been discarded by Baldwin. She still says she had some hope, but it must have been dim. Her parents had lost faith. They refused to let her go with him any longer. (The letters were quoted.) These letters speak of an aching heart. She seeks to conceal her relations with Baldwin. She knew she was an abandoned girl. She knew her friends had pointed at her with scorn. This man comes to her as a friend. He signs himself, "your friend." He writes after this suit was begun pledging her his aid. He invites her to his house and promises to help her. (The letters were read.) A card was introduced from Louise to Baldwin, and a claim made that the error in the last figure of the date was really an error. The filing of the exhibit made by the Clerk of the Court had made on this very letter a precisely similar error.) Blackley, this "friend," then went and turned these letters over to her enemies. What is there in this name of friend? When I take you by the hand and pledge my friendship you know you have something to lean upon. The man who goes to a girl with honeyed words and wins her confidence and then betrays her is as degraded and false as God ever permits a man to be and live.

* * * * * * *

They say they will defend this man. They cannot do it. This man Blackley is branded as a traitor. The man who glides like a serpent to the side of a girl and wins her confidence and then betrays her, I have no use for him—throw him into the same cesspool where Ike Harris and Cawelti shall wriggle forever!

* * * * * * *

Here is a girl—formerly young and innocent. Baldwin comes along. I have an experienced mother-in-law. I ruined her. She should not have yielded. I cast her off. There she is. I am not hurt. He comes here to tell you this girl has done wrong—but he—he has done nothing very bad. He was not compelled to put in the deposition of Colbert any more than that of Gregory. [Here Colbert's testimony was read.] I am referring to this to show you that this man is so low, so contemptible, that he cannot be believed—this appears from the language he uses. I will not read this; I have too much respect for my own mouth; I am afraid I never should get it clean again. They went to a "chippie ball." This servant of Mr. Baldwin went to a ball where only pimps and w—— go; he must have been one of them. (A good deal of attention was paid to Colbert's deposition to show the degradation of the witness, the attorney drawing his inferences as he went along. Colbert swore in a blasphemous way, and this was emphasized by the attorney.) She says she did not know where she was, nor the character of the "Poodle Dog." She went with Mrs. Harold; there is no crime in this; she went with Baldwin's daughter; he has dragged his daughter into this; does he not remember when she was born? Does he not remember when as a child she climbed on his knee; does he remember when she grew up to blooming womanhood and he pointed to her and said that is my daughter? Yet he is willing to drag her in here and blacken her character. Now can you believe a man who does that? I do not; I can not. Now this man is proven to be worth $6,000,000. Now is it too much if he give up one per cent of this? is $60,000 too much for him to pay this girl. Much is said of sympathy in this. Human nature is so constituted that sympathy is seldom thrown away. When she is in a store he comes to her and entices her to a meeting. Why did he throw that note in the road? Why did he not go to the house? Why does he go see her about it a year after? I will bring Officer Carey here now, and if he does not confirm all the girl said you may give a verdict for the defense. (Carroll's testimony was here torn up by the counsel.) Gentlemen, when E. J. Baldwin took this girl to his home she was a young and pure girl. When she comes before you she comes as a discarded woman. He goes round the world and laughs about these things She has lost all. You cannot restore the maiden blush to her cheek. She is debarred from making a living. Women turn away from her. A merchant cannot employ her, because his lady customers will not come where she is. She might be put in a place of competency. You cannot lift her like Omnipotence did the Magdalen, but you can put her in a place out of the way of wash. Shall you turn her out branded as a mere w—— to drift along to the grave as such a one?

It was hard to keep near Mr. White always while speaking. It was utterly impossible to follow him in long-hand near the close, so rapidly does he speak. He closed at ten minutes before noon, having spoke in all a little over three hours.

At ten minutes before noon a recess of a few minutes was taken and then the Court proceeded to instruct the jury. At noon exactly the Court began to read the instructions. It was twenty minutes past 12 o'clock when the charge to the jury closed and the case went to the jury.

CHARGE TO THE JURY.

Gentlemen of the Jury: This is an action brought by the plaintiff, Miss Louise C. Perkins, against the defendant, Mr. E. J. Baldwin, to recover the sum of $500,000 as damages for alleged breach of promise of marriage.

The complaint claims that on or about the 12th day of April, 1883, she was in all respects qualified to enter into such contract of marriage, and on or about that time received a proposal or offer of marriage from the defendant, which she then and there accepted.

That the defendant, in violation of said contract, and without her consent or knowledge, married Miss Bennett, May 20th, 1884.

The marriage of defendant to Miss Bennett is admitted.

The contract to marry plaintiff by defendant is denied.

Before charging you as to the law involved in the issues here, I will give you some rules by which you are to judge and weigh the evidence. Your power of judging of the effect of the evidence is not arbitrary, but to be exercised with legal discretion and in subordination to the rules of evidence. You are not bound to decide in conformity with the declarations of any number of witnesses which do not produce conviction in your minds, against a less number, or against a presumption or other evidence satisfying your minds.

In civil cases, like the present, the affirmative of the issue must be proved; and, when the evidence is contradictory, your decision must be made according to the preponderence of evidence. By preponderance of evidence is meant that the oath of these men. (Here the poor degree of proof which induces the mind of a reasonable man to believe the one side of an issue in preference to the other.

That evidence is to be estimated, not only by its own intrinsic weight, but also according to the evidence which it is in the power of one side to produce and of the other to contradict; and, therefore, if evidence not less satisfactory evidence is offered, when it appears that stronger and more satisfactory was within the power of the party, the evidence offered should be viewed with distrust.

You are the sole judges of all questions of fact, and of the credibility of witnesses. You may believe the whole or any part of the evidence of any witness, and may disbelieve the whole or any part of it, as may be dictated by the exercise of your sound judgments as reasonable men. If any witness has, in your judgment, willfully sworn falsely in any material respect, he or she is to be distrusted in others; and their testimony should not be accepted and acted upon without great caution.

You should carefully scrutinize all the testimony given, and, in doing so, consider all the circumstances under which each witness has testified—their degree of intelligence; their manner while on the stand; the relation they bear to the cause, and the manner in which they might be affected by the verdict; their apparent desire to confine themselves to the truth, or to color their statements; their apparent tenacity or lack of memory; the extent to which he or she is contradicted or corroborated by other evidence, if at all; and other considerations that tend to throw light upon the question of their veracity or credibility.

You are to determine the amount of credence to which each witness and each statement is entitled at your hands, as reasonable and intelligent men.

In this State any unmarried male person of the age of eighteen years, or upwards, or any unmarried female person of the age of fifteen years, or upwards, not otherwise disqualified, is capable of consenting to and consummating marriage.

Marriage is considered in law as a civil contract, by which the consent of the parties is essential, and like every other contract, all that is necessary to its validity is the deliberate consent of competent parties to enter into a present agreement to take each other for husband and wife. If a man who is competent to enter into such a contract deliberately promises to marry a woman, and she reciprocates the promise, there being no legal prohibition, and he afterwards refuses to ratify the agreement thereby made, he is liable to her for damages for the breach of the contract, unless he shows good legal cause why he should be exonerated from the fulfillment of his promise.

The next question to be determined by you is: Did the plaintiff and defendant on or about the 12th day of April, 1883, enter into a contract to marry. This fact may be shown by the testimony of the plaintiff or declarations of the defendant (if you should believe from the evidence that the defendant ever made such declarations,) and in arriving at your conclusion upon this point you may consider the conduct of the parties towards each other; their intimacy, the frequency of their visits, the giving and receiving of presents, any affection entertained—the one for the other, and any and all circumstances of their intercourse, which have been adduced in evidence; if you should be of the opinion the circumstances so adduced warrant such inference.

If, upon a full consideration of all the evidence in this cause, you should be of the opinion there was not any such contract, then you should find for the defendant and consider the cause no further.

But if you should be of the opinion that there was such a contract made as alleged, the next question for you to determine is: Has the plaintiff been guilty of personal unchastity during any period of her life prior to the marriage of defendant to Miss Bennett, May 20, 1884, in which the defendant did not participate.

Neither party to a contract of marriage is bound by the promise made in ignorance of the personal unchastity of the other; and either is relieved therefrom by unchaste conduct on the part of the other—unless both parties participate therein.

In the eyes of the law a contract of marriage is entered into for the mutual comfort and happiness of the contracting parties; and the law will absolve either party from its performance, and from damages occasioned by its breach, where either has been guilty of personal unchastity in which the other did not participate, and of which they were ignorant at the time of the contract, or during its continuance.

For the purpose of determining this question you have nothing whatever to do with any personal unchastity of hers subsequent to the marriage of defendant to Miss Bennett, May 20, 1884. And you can only consider any personal unchastity on her part subsequent to that time in mitigation of damages.

If you should be of the opinion, after a full consideration of all the evidence upon the point, that the plaintiff was guilty of unchaste conduct prior to, or subsequent to, the alleged marriage contract, and down to the marriage of defendant to Miss Bennett, May 20, 1884, in which both parties did not participate, or if you should find that the plaintiff was guilty of indecent or lascivious familiarities with others, not brought about by the defendant's connivance or consent, then your verdict should be for the defendant, and you should dismiss the cause from any further consideration.

But should you be of the opinion that there was a contract of marriage, as alleged, and that plaintiff has not been guilty of personal unchastity other than with the defendant, nor guilty of indecent or lascivious familiarities with other persons, it would then be your duty to find for the plaintiff, and proceed to find the amount of damages she has sustained for the breach of the contract.

The damages for the breach of a promise of marriage rests in the sound discretion of the jury. The right to this action is given to the injured party for the loss she has sustained, and is held to embrace the injury to the feelings, affections and wounded pride, as well as the loss of marriage. In considering the amount of damages that would compensate plaintiff, in case you find her entitled to recovery under the instructions heretofore given you, you may consider, in addition to what has just been said concerning her feelings, affections, pride and loss of marriage, her pecuniary condition and also that of the defendant; the position and situation in which she would have been placed had the contract been fulfilled.

Should you find there was such a contract valid at law, as given you in these instructions, and the position she occupied at the time of this action, in so far as it was consequent upon the breach of contract, you have a right, also, to consider, in aggravation of damages, whether or not the defendant has wantonly and in bad faith come into this court and attempted to show the plaintiff guilty of improper conduct with other men. If you believe he pronounces such conduct to add insult to injury, and therefore proper to be considered by the jury in aggravation of damages.

You are further instructed, however, that the defendant has a right to this defense of improper conduct with other men, even after the breach of the alleged contract by him, in mitigation of damages, when made in good faith.

Therefore, if you should be of the opinion that the defense of improper conduct on plaintiff's part was made honestly and in good faith by defendant, although you should be of the opinion that it was not supported by the evidence, in such a case you should not consider it in aggravation of damages.

It was the duty of the plaintiff in this action to use all ordinary and reasonable care and means to prevent an injury arising from the breach of the alleged contract, should you believe there was such a contract, and she can only recover damages for such loss as could not by such care and means be avoided.

You should therefore consider in mitigation of damages any improper or indelicate or unchaste conduct committed by her at any time prior to the commencement of this action, which was April 28th, 1885. Should you believe from the evidence that she has been guilty of any such conduct, and her character as to sobriety or virtue, either before or after the alleged promise, in considering the questions here submitted to you, you will endeavor to exercise a sound and sober judgment in weighing all the facts and circumstances that have been adduced in evidence and determine whether they were such as would lead the guarded discretion of reasonable and just men to a conclusion.

You should not be influenced by any feelings of like or dislike you may entertain for or against either party, no matter by what means engendered, nor by any apparent expression of opinion as to the facts made by the court.

An instruction asked by plaintiff and given:

In considering whether plaintiff ever was guilty of any improper conduct, you have a right to take into account her age at the time the acts criticized were done, and also the character of her surroundings and whether her associates were proper, and if not, whether she had knowledge of the true character of said associates.

An instruction asked by the defendant and given:

The Court further instructs the jury that if you believe from the evidence that the defendant ever did promise to marry the plaintiff, and you further believe from the evidence that by means of such promise the defendant seduced the plaintiff; and if you further believe from the evidence that the defendant broke his promise to marry the plaintiff, then you are instructed that in estimating damages you cannot take into consideration such seduction, because the same was not alleged in the complaint.

Second—The Court instructs the jury that when a party offers a witness and places him on the stand, he thereby represents him, in general, to be worthy of belief, but such party is not thereby precluded from proving the truth of any particular fact by any other witness, or competent testimony, in direct contradiction to what such witness may have testified to; and this is true, not only when it appears that the witness was mistaken, but also when the evidence may collaterally have the effect of showing that he was generally unworthy of belief.

Another one asked for by defendant and given by the court as modified: The court instructs the jury that the declarations of the plaintiff to third parties given in evidence do not, standing alone, independent of other facts, establish the promise of the defendant to marry her.

The jury are instructed, as a matter of law, that attentions, visiting in company, presents and letters, which are all consistent with the mere pursuit of lust, are not sufficient alone to warrant a conclusion that there has been a marriage engagement between the plaintiff and defendant, but may be considered by you in arriving at a conclusion as to whether there was such an agreement or not.

The jury are further instructed as a matter of law that damages must in all cases be reasonable, and unconscionable and grossly oppressive damages, contrary to substantial justice, or more than reasonable damages, cannot be recovered.

You will now retire and choose a foreman, and when you, or three-fourths of you, which is nine, shall have agreed upon a verdict, you will have your foreman fill it up and sign the same, and return with it into Court in charge of an officer.

"FOR PLAINTIFF."

At half-past four the jury came into Court and rendered the verdict. It was unanimous, and awarded the plaintiff damages in the sum of $75,000.

A Scientific Combination.

Yerba Santa, a product of California has been used for years as a stimulating expectorant and combining it with Abietene and Mullien, with their great Tuberculous Absorbing, Weight Increasing and Curative Powers, gives us a cough and lung remedy that cannot be equaled, and in Abietene Cough Balsam we defy competition for consumption, bronchitis, asthma, croup, pleurisy, pneumonia, coughs, colds, sore throat, phthisic, in fact all throat, chest and lung troubles. It contains no opium. Price 75 cents, Sold by C. F. Heinzeman, agent, Los Angeles.

Brown's Little Joke.

"Why, Brown; how short your coat is," said Jones one day to his friend Brown, who wittily replied: "Yes, but it will be long enough before I get another." Some men spend so much for medicines that neither heal nor help them, that new clothes is with them like angels' visits—few and far between. Internal fever, weakness of the lungs, shortness of breath and lingering cough soon yield to the magic influence of that royal remedy, Dr. R. V. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery."

"The Convict's Daughter" at the Vienna Theater.

The above theater opens its doors on Sunday next under very favorable auspices, when it will be occupied by Emma Frank's Dramatic Company, who intend giving a series of performances, conducting the place as a first-class theater, which will greatly induce the public to patronize them, whereas hitherto the unpleasantness attending the use of tobacco and liquors has seriously interfered with its being patronized by those whose tastes do not lie in that direction. Now that these objections have been removed, there is very little doubt but that the company will be warmly supported, and its opening performance on Sunday next should inaugurate a new era in the annals of the Vienna Theater. Miss Minnie Young, the stellar attraction, and her portrayal of Hattie Salisbury in "The Convict's Daughter," is a creation of a very high order, affording ample scope for the display of the rare talent which this young lady possesses.

A special matinee performance is billed for Monday (Washington's Birthday), while regular matinee performances will be given each Wednesday and Saturday during the company's stay in the city. Popular prices, 50 and 25 cts., have been maintained.

An Old-Fashioned Idea.

The old-fashioned idea that one should never enter a sick room with an empty stomach is a true one. The gastric juice is not secreted in an empty stomach; it is only when food is taken into the stomach and digestion commences that the gastric juice is present, and germs are killed by coming in contact with healthy gastric juice, there fore a full stomach fortifies one against contracting contagious diseases. Dr. Haven's Dyspepsia Cure is especially adapted to act upon the digestive juices of the system and keeps them in a pure and natural condition. In this manner it ensures proper digestion and assimilation of the food. It never fails to effect a cure even in the most obstinate cases of dyspepsia, indigestion, flatulency and sick headache. For sale at Litlleboy's drug store.

Cure For Piles.

Piles are often preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. At times, symptoms of indigestion are present, flatulency, unpleasant belching of the stomach, etc. A moisture like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching, after getting warm is a very common attendant. Blind, bleeding and itching piles yield at once to the application of Dr. Rosanko's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the tumors, allaying the intense itching, and effecting a permanent cure. Price 50 cents. Address the Dr. Rosanko Medicine Co., Piqua, Ohio. Sold by C. F Heinzeman, agent, Los Angeles.

Twenty-Second of February.

It must not be forgotten that on Monday next, the 22nd inst., there will take place at Agricultural Park, one of the finest trotting races of the season, between L. J. Rose Jr's. Margaret and Charlie D. by Elias Williams, for a purse of $300. These horses are well known and will no doubt attract all their old friends. Pigeon shooting match at 11 o'clock A. M. A good day's sport ahead.

Yellow Fever Prevented.

The engineers of the Central Railroad of Georgia, say: "Though we were exposed to the worst miasmatic influences, during the prevalence of the yellow fever epidemic of 1874, with but the single exception of one of us (who was taken sick, but speedily recovered) we continued in our usual good health—a circumstance which we can account for in no other way than by the effect, under Providence, of the habitual use of Simmon's Liver Regulator while we were exposed to the malaria.

A Pasadena Highland Home.

Seekers of home property should visit the grounds to be sold at auction Thursday, February 25th, in Pasadena Highlands. Too much in their praise cannot be said; a visit alone will convince you that perfection of location is a moderate estimate of their actual worth. Residents of the valley who saw this locality after having purchased their homes, have expressed sincere regret that they did not first examine this most beautiful site.

We do not wish you to rely solely on our representatives, but do ask and urge you to go out and see for yourself. The grandeur of the scenery will well repay cost and trouble. Take your marine glass with you, as the scenery is limited by the limit of vision only. So long as you intend to build a home somewhere in this vicinity why not first see if what we claim is not true, viz: That no site near Los Angeles compares with it in beauty of scene and magnificence of surroundings. These lots in size nearly one-half acre each, permit cultivation of the finely developed fruit trees and vines they now contain.

Mountain water of the best quality piped to each lot.

Mr. G. A. Swartwout, the owner, until the day of sale personally looks after visitors. A special excursion train will be run on the day of sale, leaving at 10 A. M. for accommodation of guests. Round trip tickets, 50 cents; for sale by Messrs. Stoll & Thayer, stationers, No. 3 South Spring street, on and after Thursday, 18th inst., to day before sale. See auction and excursion advertisement in another column.

MORE CROOKEDNESS.

Bribery and Corruption Charged and Denied.

THE SUPERVISORS INDIGNANT.

They Resolve That They are Incorruptible and Prove it by Themselves.

The rumors that the Supervisors were at last going to reject the plans of John Hall for the new jail building after they had accepted them, have been very thick for a few days, insomuch that that gentleman considered it prudent to secure influence with the Board from third parties, and for said influence was willing to and did pay coin. The parties who are charged with receiving the money deny the charge and the plot has become interesting and wide reaching. More parties are supposed to be interested in the matter than have yet been mentioned. This crookedness will delay the erection of the jail for a time. Following are the regular proceedings and resume of the testimony.

The Board met pursuant to adjournment. Present, a full Board and the Clerk.

In the matter of jail plans—It having been alleged that money had been paid by John Hall, architect, to E. Bouton and T. D. Mott to be used to prevent the rejection of his plans after the same had been adopted, and Supervisor Hinds and county officers having demanded an investigation, Mr. F. W. Cherry was sworn as short-hand reporter. The Board was represented by District Attorney Holton, John Hall by Messrs. Williams and McKinley, and Messrs. Bouton and Mott by Attorney Morgan.

The following witnesses were sworn and testified: John Hall, R. H. Holcomb, W. C. Farrey, T. D. Mott, E. Bouton, W. J. Brodrick, W. H. Perry, James Thompson, George Hines, C. H. Dunsmoor and George M. Holton. Supervisor Foord also made a statement.

THE TESTIMONY.

Mr. Hall was the first witness examined, and the substance of his testimony was as follows: Upon the next morning after the Board had adopted his plans, he was met by General Bouton who said that he wanted to meet him in the Temple Block. A short time afterwards he met General Bouton who requested me to meet him in room 36, Temple Block. He there saw Mr. Bouton and Mr. T. D. Mott. Mr. Bouton informed me that I would have to hand over $1,000 or $1,200, and in case I refused to comply with the demand said they would have my plans thrown out, at the same time saying that County Clerk Dunsmoor, Sheriff George E. Gard, District Attorney Holton and Supervisor Hinds were in the thing. Some more conversation followed Soon after this meeting Gen. Bouton again saw me, in the presence of Mr. Mott, and informed me that Mr. Hinds was going to Arizona, and that I must produce $300 before he went. I informed them that I had not the money, but would get it. I then went to R. H. Holcomb and he loaned me the $300, which I gave to Gen. Bouton." The witness also stated that he signed an agreement to pay over $700 of the first money he received from the Board. Mr. Hall also swore that Jailor Thompson came to him this morning and urged him to have Holcomb leave town—to go to Santa Monica, or to take a long ride on the street cars.

Mr. T. D. Mott was then called, and after denying having any knowledge of the above statement, said that Hall had come to him upon several occasions and solicited his influence to have the plans adopted. Mr. Mott further stated that he had always been a friend to Mr. Hall, and did what he could in helping him in business affairs.

General Bouton was then called and denied ever having any conversation with Hall, or ever having received a cent from him. "In fact," said the General, "I have heard more about this affair during the short time that I have been in this room than ever before."

R. H. Holcomb was called, and stated that he was informed by Hall this morning that parties had called at his office and advised him to have me take a trip out of town, that there was a subpœna for me; but no one approached me in person. Holcomb also testified that he was present when the demand was made by Mott and Bouton for $1200, and that he loaned $300 to Hall.

Mr. Holcomb also said that he had been told by Mr. Mott that for $2500 he (Holcomb) could secure the contract for doing the cell work on the jail. Holcomb said that he had no bank with him and declined the proposition.

W. J. Brodrick was also examined in regard to the written agreement, but stated that he was not familiar with the handwriting. He stated that he had seen the agreement before; that Hall had shown it to him.

The Board then took a recess until 1:30.

AFTERNOON SESSION

Yesterday afternoon, W. H. Perry testified that Hall had applied to him for a loan of $700, but he had declined, and had referred him to S. H. Mott.

Messrs. Hinds, Holton, Dunsmoor and Foord testified that they had never received any money, nor had ever been approached to use their influence for money for Hall's plans.

Jailor Thompson testified that he had advised Holcomb to absent himself, but not for the purpose of avoiding a subpœna.

Mr. Hall was recalled and said that the note for $700 was given for the purpose he had stated, and for nothing else. He said that the original proposition was that he should pay $1200, but he had compromised on $1000.

The following papers were filed with the Board:

MR. HALL'S DENIAL.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 16, 1886.

I, the undersigned, John Hall, having heard rumors to the effect that I had agreed or promised to pay General E. Bouton and Mr. T. D. Mott a sum of money for the purpose of securing the acceptance of my plans for the county jail, by the County Board of Supervisors, do hereby deny that I have ever agreed in any manner, shape or form, to pay the gentlemen mentioned above any sum of money for such said purposes.
JOHN HALL,
Witness: W. J. BRODRICK.

THE NOTE,

LOS ANGELES, January 22, 1886.

For value received I hereby transfer and assign to Perry, Mott & Co. the sum of $700 (seven hundred dollars) to be paid out of and deducted from, detained and withheld from the first moneys I may receive or be entitled to as commissions or compensation or pay ment for plans drawn for a county jail or services rendered or to be rendered to the county of Los Angeles in superintending the construction of a jail building for said county, and I hereby order and direct the Board of Supervisors and County Auditor to draw in favor of and deliver to said Perry, Mott & Co. any order, warrant or money I may be or may become entitled to on account of said plans, commissions or services to said extent or amount of $700.
JOHN HALL [erased]
The original paper brought to me.
JOHN HALL.

The explanation Hall gave of the apparent discrepancy between his testimony and the above card was that the card was true. He did not give money to secure the adoption of the plans but to prevent them being thrown out after adoption.

District Attorney Holton said the purpose of the investigation was to assure the public that the Board and officers had nothing to conceal, and that bids for jail cells now pending would be considered on their merits.

A resolution to that effect was adopted.

Further examination was postponed until March to await the return of the Sheriff and the further convenience of the Board.

On motion of Supervisor Hinds the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, Certain statements have been circulated to the effect that certain persons have and do exercise undue influence upon this Board in securing the adoption of plans for a jail and other matters coming before the Board; therefore, be it

Resolved, That all persons wishing to compete for the contract for the jail superstructure, cell work or any other contract, are hereby assured that they will receive a fair hearing and their work will stand upon its merits, and that no person or persons will influence or ever have influenced or attempted to influence this Board in any other manner than by an open and fair discussion of their plans upon their merits.

JUST AS BAD AS PAINTED.

Widespread Commotion Caused by the Terrible Confession of a Physician.

The story published in these columns recently, from the Rochester, N. Y., Democrat and Chronicle, created a deal of comment here, as it has elsewhere. Apparently it caused even more commotion in Rochester, as the following from the same paper shows:

Dr. J. B. Henion, who is well-known not only in Rochester, but in nearly every part of America, sent an extended article to this paper a few days ago, which was duly published, detailing his remarkable experience and rescue from what seemed to be certain death. It would be impossible to enumerate the personal inquiries which have been made at our office as to the validity of the article, but they have been so numerous that further investigation of the subject was deemed necessary.

With this end in view a representative of this paper called on Dr. Henion at his residence on Andrews street, when the following interview occurred: "That article of yours, Doctor, has created quite a whirlwind. Are the statements about the terrible condition you were in, and the way you were rescued, such as you can sustain?"

"Every one of them and many additional ones. I was brought so low by neglecting the first and most simple symptoms. I did not think I was sick. It is true I had frequent headaches; felt tired most of the time; could eat nothing one day and was ravenous the next; felt dull pains and my stomach was out of order, but I did not think it meant anything serious. The medical profession has been treating symptoms instead of diseases for years, and it is high time it ceased. The symptoms I have just mentioned or any unusual action or irritation of the water channels indicate the approach of kidney disease more than a cough announces the coming of consumption. We do not treat the cough, but try to help the lungs. We should not waste our time trying to relieve the headaches, pains about the body or other symptoms, but go directly to the kidneys, the source of most of these ailments."

"This, then, is what you meant when you said that more than one-half the deaths which occur arise from Bright's disease, is it Doctor?"

"Precisely. Thousands of diseases are torturing the people to-day which in reality are Bright's disease in some of its many forms. It is a hydra-headed monster, and the slightest symptoms should strike terror to every one who has them. I can look back and recall hundreds of deaths which physicians declared at the time were caused by paralysis, apoplexy, heart disease, pneumonia, malarial fever and other common complaints, which I see now were caused by Bright's disease."

"And did all of these cases have simple symptoms at first?"

"Every one of them, and might have been cured as I was by the timely use of the same remedy. I am getting my eyes thoroughly opened in this matter and think I am helping others to see the facts and their possible danger also."

Mr. Warner, who was visited at his establishment on North St. Paul street, spoke very earnestly:

"It is true that Bright's disease had increased wonderfully, and we find, by reliable statistics, that from '70 to '80 its growth was over 250 per cent. Look at the prominent men it has carried off, and is taking off every year, for while many are dying apparently of paralysis and apoplexy, they are really victims of kidney disorder, which causes heart disease, paralysis, apoplexy, etc. Nearly every week the papers record the death of some prominent man from this scourge. Recently, however, the increase has been checked and I attribute this to the general use of my remedy."

"Do you think many people are afflicted with it to-day who do not realize it?"

"A prominent professor in a New Orleans medical college was lecturing before his class on the subject of Bright's disease. He had various fluids under microscopic analysis and was showing the students what the indications of this terrible malady were. 'And now, gentlemen,' he said, 'as we have seen the unhealthy indications I will show you how it appears in a state of perfect health,' and he submitted his own fluid to the usual test. As he watched the results his countenance suddenly changed—his color and command both left him and in a trembling voice he said: 'Gentlemen, I have made a painful discovery; I have Bright's disease of the kidneys. And in less than a year he was dead. The slightest indications of any kidney difficulty should be enough to strike terror to any one."

"You know of Dr. Henion's case?"

"Yes, I have both read and heard of it."

"It is very wonderful, is it not?"

"Not more so than a great many others that have come to my notice as having been cured by the same means."

"You believe then that Bright's disease can be cured?"

"I know it can. I know it from my own and the experience of thousands of prominent persons who were given up to die by both their physicians and friends."

"You speak of your own experience; what was it?"

"A fearful one. I had felt languid and unfitted for business for years. But I did not know what ailed me. When, however, I found it was kidney difficulty I thought there was little hope, and so did the doctors. I have since learned that one of the physicians of this city pointed me out to a gentleman on the street one day, saying: 'There goes a man who will be dead within a year.' I believe his words would have proved true if I had not providentially used the remedy now known as Warner's Safe Cure."

"Did you make a chemical analysis of the case of Mr. H. H. Warner some three years ago, Doctor?" was asked Dr. S. A. Lattimore, one of the analysts of the State Board of Health.

"Yes, sir."

"What did this analysis show you?"

"A serious disease of the kidneys."

"Did you think Mr. Warner could recover?"

"No, sir. I did not think it possible."

"Do you know anything about the remedy which cured him?"

"I have chemically analyzed it and find it pure and harmless."

Dr. Henion was cured five years ago and is well and attending to his professional duties to-day, in this city. The standing of Dr. Henion, Mr. Warner and Dr. Lattimore in the community is beyound question, and the statements they make cannot for a moment be doubted. Dr. Henion's experience shows that Bright's disease of the kieneys is one of the most deceptive and dangerous of all diseases, that it is exceedingly common, but that it can be cured if taken in time.

Miraculous Escape.

W. W. Reed, druggist of Winchester, Ind., writes: "One of my customers, Mrs. Louisa Pike, Bartonia, Randolph county, Ind., was a long sufferer from consumption and was given up to die by her physicians. She heard of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption and began buying it of me. In six months she walked to this city, a distance of six miles, and is now so much improved in health she has quit using it. She feels she owes her life to it." Free trial bottles at C. F. Heinzeman's drug store.

A PHYSICAL WONDER.

Hundreds of Abandoned and Hopeless Sufferers Made Happy by Relief.

Dr. McLennan, the Distinguished Vitapathic Physician of San Francisco — His Methods of Treatment a Success Here in Los Angeles—Cures That Challenge Belief.

[Advertisement.]

So many thousands are already acquainted with his mode of operating it seems necessary only to say that by this method an equilibrium of the vital powers is at once established, and an equalization of the circulation maintained, thus Nature is enabled to throw off effete matter which generates and fosters disease, and health at once ensues.

Dr. McLennan heals by bringing into action the all-potent elements of Nature, and the recuperative forces of the human system; he adopts a natural course which commends itself to the humblest understanding. He often effects an immediate cure of cases deemed beyond all reach, because, in connection with natural agencies, he brings into requisition

POWERS AND ELEMENTS WRAPPED IN MYSTERY

To the ignorant and ignored by the regular schools of Materia and Medica, though recognized by Sacred History of all times and the most eminent physicians of every age, but as yet taught only in the American Health College of Ohio, whose graduates everywhere are found to perform the same marvelous cures, causing ministers, physicians, scientists and the public generally to stand in wonder and amazement. One thing is sure, they are making a record in the history of the cure of diseases so far ahead of the other schools of medicine that a few years back they would have set the world agog as "miracle workers." Dr. MacLennan, the most successful exponent of this progressive system now before the public, does not only remove the disease for the time being, but removes the causes, producing a permanent cure.

To prove the above assertion he submits the following cases for publication. Dr. MacLennan can be consulted free at 111 South Main street, near Second, opposite the Cathedral.

I deem it a duty to let the public know, through your valuable paper, of the sudden and wonderful cure of paralysis of my right hand wrought on me by Dr. MacLennan. He restored to me the use of my hand by one week's treatment. DENNIS REORDAN,
Round House, South Main street, Los Angeles.

Mr. March, with California Furniture Company, Main street, Los Angeles, says: "Dr. MacLennan cured me of a severe trouble in my back and kidneys in two treatments. I consider him a very wonderful man."

Mr. Harris, a carpenter shopping at 89 South Water street, Los Angeles, says: "I was nearly dead with heart disease when I went to Dr. MacLennan. He gave me instant relief and saved my life."

Mr. T. F. Conway, a well known citizen, residing at 47 South Los Angeles street, says: "My affliction was an unaccountable mystery to physicians, but Dr. MacLennan handled my disease like a toy and restored me speedily to health."

Mr. W. H. Cooper, 1006 Temple st., says: "I have doctored in vain, both here and in the East, for spinal rheumatic trouble, but found no help until I took treatment of Dr. MacLennan, who gave me immediate relief."

Liver and kidney trouble of four years' standing cured in one month and the patient gains sixteen pounds and goes to work:

Mr. H. C. Rice, 127 First street says: "I was a very sick man when I first went to Dr. MacLennan. For four years I suffered with liver and kidney trouble. Under the Doctor's treatment I commenced immediately to improve. I gained sixteen pounds the first month, and was able to go to work."

ASTHMA OF TWENTY YEARS' STANDING YIELDS TO THE VITAPATHIC TREATMENT.

Mr. Dockweiler, another of Los Angeles' pioneers, and an old and much respected citizen, says: "I had asthma for over twenty years, and I had given up all hope of ever getting well. I am happy, however, to say that money could not buy from me the relief obtained at the hands of Dr. MacLennan."

"Yes," said Mr. Foot, of Chicago, now stopping at 211 Fort street, "I am now taking what the best physicians in the world recommended me, and it is helping me. Dr. MacLennan is a power, and his treatment will benefit, if not cure, all persons."

NEURALGIA CURED INSTANTLY.

Mr. Thomas McEnty, 25 South Main street, says: "I was nearly crazy for four nights with neuralgia; blistered my face with poultices, plasterers and liniments; afforded no relief. I went to Dr. MacLennan, who cured me in less then one minute by simply laying his hand on my face."

Mr. L. B. Huntington, of Anaheim, Cal., says: "Dr. MacLennan helped me instantly of extreme nervous weakness and neuralgia."

THREW AWAY HIS CRUTCHES.

Mr. Ira Brokrau, 35 South Main street, says: "I went to Dr. MacLennan on two crutches; inside of three weeks I threw them away and I am now a well man."

A BAD CASE OF SCIATICA RHEUMATISM CURED IN TEN DAYS.

Mr. William Allen, carpenter forsman of the Los Angeles Cable Railroad Company, and living at the corner of Wilmington and First streets, says: "The pain which I suffered seemed almost unindurable. My leg was drawn up and contracted; nothing seemed to afford me any relief until I took treatment of Dr. MacLennan. Immediate improvement followed, and I was well in ten days."

PROGRESSIVE PARALYSIS CURED IN A FEW DAYS.

Mr. C. G. Miller, of Wilmington, says: "My lower limbs were so weak that I was hardly able to walk. A few treatments from Dr. MacLennan cured me of all my infirmities. I do sincerely advise all who are out of health to try him."

TAKEN FROM A BED OF SUFFERING.

Mr. Paul Kern, 725 Main street, an old and well-known citizen, says: "For four long months I suffered untold agony. Owing to the failure of others to give me relief I reluctantly and with great persuasion tried Dr. MacLennan's treatment, with extraordinary good results. He has taken me off a bed of sickness.

NEVER WAS SO HAPPY IN MY LIF
